BASIC-ABSTRACT:

NOVELTY - Exercising apparatus has rigid rectangular frame and exercising devices hung on frame. Exercising devices are formed as sets of ellipsoid-shaped exercising members simulating basic parts of sportive mannequin body and parallel paired in vertical direction. Exercising members are hung by means of flexible rods extending through their centers and arranged at predetermined distance one from another. Exercising members are fixed on frame upper and middle cross-pieces. Adjacent upper and middle exercising members of sets are interconnected in horizontal direction by means of flexible rods extending through their centers and fixed to frame side cross-pieces.

USE - Sportive equipment.

ADVANTAGE - Simplified construction and improved quality of exercising process.
